JUILLIARD QUARTET TONIGHT

The Juilliard String Quartet, hailed as "America's greatest contribution to quartet history", will present a concert tonight at 8:30 in Redpath Hall. They are sponsored by the SCOPE Committee of the SEC.

Quartet-in-residence at the Juilliard School of Music in New York, the ensemble's members, all of whom have distinguished themselves as solo performers, are Robert Mann and Robert Koff, violinists, Raphael Hillyer, violist, and Claus Adam, cellist.

Since its inception, the Juilliard String Quartet has played hundreds of concerts on this continent and in Europe.

Their playing of the classics has been heralded for its freshness and spontaneity, bringing to the timeless musical art of the past a searching insight which illuminates it with meaning for today. The Juilliard String Quartet, unique in the annals of contemporary quartets, has brought to the fore the master works of today's great composers — works which had remained inaccessible due to their immense technical difficulties and newness of musical language until the Juilliard brought them to life with supreme skill and understanding.

The program will include:

Quartet in C Major K. 465,

"The Dissonance" Mozart

Third Quartet (1 27) Bartok

Quartet in C Major,

Opus 59, No. 3 Beethoven

Because of the large anticipated attendance, two-thirds of the hall will be reserved for students. There will be no admission charge.

FORUM NITE FEATURES WAYNE AND SHUSTER

Wayne and Shuster, Canada's top comedians, will be guests of Forum Night, Feb. 17. The evening will begin with a hockey game between McGill and the University of Montreal for the Birk's Trophy. This will be followed by a variety ice show featuring Doug Court, Barbara Jacques, Dick Nutter, and skating choruses from McGill and Bishops. The whole show builds towards the crowning of the McGill Winter Carnival Queen of 1956, who will be crowned in a large-scale production number.

Johnny Wayne and Frank Shuster are already interested in student activities in Canada. They got their start in show business through university plays at the University of Toronto, where CBC scouts realized that they had made a valuable "find". While doing post-graduating work at the U. of T., they did a radio show called the "Wife Preservers". After university, Wayne and Shuster worked on a variety show for Buckingham, and have since been working steadily as radio and TV comedians.

During the war, Wayne and Shuster starred in the famous "Army Show", for which they wrote the comedy and most of the music and lyrics. This show established the team as Canada's top comedians, and at the close of the Army Show, they moved right back into Canadian radio. Recently they received an invitation from the NBC to act as the summer replacement for "Life of Riley". This program was carried by both NBC and CBC.

STUDENT'S SOCIETY TO DISCUSS NFCUS, UNION

By Gordon Wasserman

The five candidates for the title of Queen of the McGill Winter Carnival 1956 will be introduced to members of the Student's Society as part of the group's meeting to be held tomorrow at 1 pm in the Union Ballroom. Important motions such as the one dealing with McGill's re-entrance into the National Federation of Canadian University Students and key changes in the framework of the Union organizational setup will be brought forward for consideration at the meeting.

N.F.C.U.S. Motion

The motion dealing with N.F.C.U.S. has been submitted to Av Cohen, president of the Students' Society, and calls for McGill's re-joining the federation "provided that the National Conference accepts at least half of the . . . changes" which are to be presented to it. These changes have been suggested because there is a feeling on the part of the originators of the resolution that "the Federation has done little in the past to justify its existence." These students do consider, however, that "on the basis of principle alone" McGill should be affiliated with N.F.C.U.S.

Changes Submitted

In addition several changes have been presented as part of the motion. It was stated that other "major changes will be drafted by the originators of this resolution, in coordination with the S.E.C. and other Universities. Among the proposed changes, which were published in full in yesterday's edition of the Daily, is one calling for a 20% decrease in N.F.C.U.S. membership fees, and another "making the Federation more representative by allowing each college one vote for every 2000 students."

McGill withdrew from the Federation last winter after a motion of withdrawal had been passed at a Student's Society meeting by a vote of 293 to 238.

Union Constitutional Changes

A second issue to be discussed at the meeting is that of the Union constitution. It is generally agreed by those who manage the Union that the present organizational set up is by far too weak. The proposed changes have been drawn up with a dual purpose. Primarily, they provide for a larger group of workers and a system of promotions based on ability and experience.

According to Leslie Jonas, current president of the Union, the changes were made with the New Union in mind, and are the only way a building of its proposed size can be run efficiently and to the best advantage of the entire campus. Jonas also stressed the overwhelming importance of discussing these changes before the coming Union elections and the end of this academic year.

In order for the meeting tomorrow to proceed a quorum of three hundred Student's Society members is needed. Av Cohen, president of the Society, stated that all students should consider the importance of the issues involved and attend the meeting to deal with them.

MODEL PARLIAMENT DEFEATS L.P.P. DISARMAMENT PROPOSAL

After much heated political debate and five recounts of the final votes, the L.P.P. government was defeated on a bill dealing with Canada's arms budget at the Model Parliament held in the Union last night.

This proved to be a difficult assignment especially during the

CIVIL SERVICE INFORMATION

The recent notice in the Daily concerning Her Majesty's Overseas Civil Service and appointments in Colonial Overseas Territories, may have been misleading. There are no summer jobs in this Service, but a student seeking permanent employment in the Service after graduation may apply during his final year.

Information about the administrative, medical, agricultural, biological, engineering, and other services and the necessary application forms may be obtained from the Registrar's Office.

The meeting closely resembled those held on Parliament Hill in Ottawa except for one striking difference. The government consisted of members of the Labor Progressive Party, while the Liberals were referred to as "Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition."

The "session" was conducted according to strict parliamentary procedure. The Sergeant-at-Arms bearing the mace, followed by the Speaker of the House and two female pages, entered the "House" to open the meeting. Av Cohen, president of the Students' Society, acted as Speaker for the evening.

CONCERT CUDDLING

A sage once remarked that there is a time and a place for all things. A friend of ours used to feel that this was particularly true of loving.

Do not misunderstand him. He was as firm an exponent of the Right of Dignified Embrace as the next person. However, he felt that the word "dignified" was an important qualification.

He never minded couples who nuzzled in movies. He never even noticed them in parked cars or on doorsteps. But when they insisted on conducting their amours at a Symphony Concert, he felt it was another matter altogether.

He assures us that he never meant to imply that the aesthetic need necessarily be accompanied by the ascetic. He merely felt that there was something incongruous in the combination of classical concert and cuddling. Furthermore he felt that listening to music, particularly classical music, took concentration. This particular couple certainly concentrate, but he tells us there is reason to believe that it is not upon the music.

Our friend has finally come to the conclusion that the trouble is not with them but with the other concert-goers. He has added up the cuddling couple, the people who come late and begin to leave before the last note has died away, and the half-hearted applause and he has decided that he and many of his friends have had a somewhat archaic attitude.

Obviously, a symphony concert is entertainment. So is a movie. Why should people not be allowed to relax and enjoy themselves in a concert in the same way that they do in a movie?

Our friend tells us that he has now revised his attitude and the next time he attends the concert, he will take his bag of popcorn with him.

SHOW A LEG

To speak of Spring at this time may seem premature, and yet among the more obvious indications that this happy season will soon be here is the thought that sooner or later some McGill campus cutie will be photographed clinging passionately to a Carnival snow sculpture. Clad in a becoming bathing suit, and with an ample display of leg, the amateur model presents a picture of femininity that not only arouses the right and proper concupiscent thoughts in the male mind, but also imbues him with a positive awe for the hardihood of Canadian women. It is difficult to imagine a tiger skinned male braying the subzero blasts in the interests of art.

The exposure of at least one shapely pair of limbs at this time gives rise to sentiments among the male students similar to those in the heart of a western farmer as he watches the chinook wind clear the snow from his land. More than the first cuckoo, more than the first flower, the appearance of a pair of female extremities unencumbered by unshapely woollen stockings heralds the Spring. Slowly, but surely, as the days grow warmer, more and more women will shed these unbecoming stockings and once again reveal the graceful lines of one of nature's minor marvels — the female leg. To the initiator or initiators of this movement, we extend our grateful thanks, and urge all other coeds to follow their example and assure us that the hounds of Spring will soon be baying.

NFCUS

Sir:

Upon reading the resolution concerning NFCUS in yesterday's Daily, some people will be inclined to ask, "Why should we rejoin the National Federation? It has not done a d. . . thing since we quit."

Anticipating this, I would like to point out the invalidity of such a postulation.

1. At the present time NFCUS is carrying out the following ten point program:

International representation of Canadian university students; a nation-wide blood "Corpuscle Cup" competition open to all universities; inter-regional exchange scholarships; student life insurance plan available to NFCUS members as of September; on many campuses NFCUS operates the Student Discount Allowance Service which enables students to buy in local stores many goods and services at discount of 10 per cent or more; NFCUS National Debating Tournament, in which McGill at present has two teams in the Eastern Finals, and, if a member, would be eligible to win the $900 prize and trophy; National competitions in art, literature and photography; Government scholarships campaign; campaign for income tax exemptions; campaign for lower text costs.

2. If the motion is properly analysed one will notice that we do not advocate unconditional rejoining. In fact, if the National Conference accepts the proposals of the NFCUS review committee the efficiency of this institution will rocket from the level of the M.T.C. to that of an electronic brain.

As the resolution points out, the main problem of the Federation is its loosely knit structure. In places where there is a strong local committee, NFCUS is doing the things students want. Unfortunately experience has shown that an organization cannot be built on the hope that there will always be brilliant student leaders to conduct its business efficiently. It is a long recognized principle that one has to build on a solid foundation. Thus it is necessary to lay down the rules whereby the National Federation can become a strong union.

Should this resolution be passed unanimously it will be a strong tool indeed in negotiating with other universities, for this would be a definite indication of what YOU, the student, expects from NFCUS.

By granting the mandate to the originators of this resolution and the S.E.C. it would enable McGill to rejoin NFCUS for the '56-'57 term instead of '57-'58. Dull as we may be, we are not stupid enough in order not to see, at the National Conference, whether things will work in the future or not. Another advantage is that next year the conference will be held at Sir George Williams College; consequently McGill students will have the opportunity to keep a close check on their delegates.

Letters to the Editor

It is worth mentioning that a committee, to review and to suggest changes with respect to NFCUS, is already labouring on the project.

In this connection an invitation is extended to you to, let us have your constructive criticisms, and to participate actively in recognizing NFCUS.

George Schafer,
Co-Chairman, NFCUS,
Review Committee.

Unhealthy Mind

Sir:

re: Mr. Hugh Robert MacDonald's Letter of Feb. 8.

In Mr. MacDonald's bitterly facetious attempt to discredit Mr. Brooke's ironically humorous attempt to discredit current sexual standards, I see nothing but a terribly unhealthy mind. There are no grounds, even in the name of bitter facetiousness for equating free love to free murder; nor should the normal sex impulses of young people be at all linked with the type of evil abnormal "natural impulses for revenge and cruelty" to which Mr. MacDonald refers.

Sex is not a crime against society; its repression can and does lead to crimes against society. The disparity between the social definitions of sex and murder becomes even more obvious when we consider that at all times murder is morally reprehensible; sex however is encouraged if the participants can manage to somehow obtain a piece of paper representing public approval.

To suggest that sex is a moral deviation and that people who participate in sex are guilty of moral perversion smacks not only of terrific immaturity but also of unhealthy moral perversion.

Why must covering pessimists like Mr. MacDonald persist in the horrible fallacy that people "free from religious inhibitions" will run amuck? Why must people like Mr. MacDonald make sex "dirty".

Hugh Robert, grow up. Or see a good psychiatrist.

Wm. Feldman.

Cleaner Gutter

Sir:

To the attention of Thelma Dyer (B.A.3)

No matter how much anyone may object to Mr. Kingsbury's philosophy, the fact still stands that he presented his views in a completely impersonal (tho' sometimes embittered) manner.

How constructive they may have been may be open to discussion, but disagreement should, at least, be expressed honorably.

But you, Miss Dyer, chose to make filthy insinuations regarding his private life and morals. (Daily 6-2-56).

Now, after shooting your slimy mouth off like that, by what right do you claim " . . . an honest and clean sexual education . . ."

You certainly have earned your own degree from G.U., with Dishonors, post-grad courses, and summa sine laude.

I abandon this sordid topic now with the hope that you will:

a. Apologize to Mr. and Mrs. Kingsbury and their young son, and

b. Find yourself a cleaner gutter.

Frank A. Good.

HOOPSTERS PREP FOR RAIDERS

The gym floor has been covered with sweat and grit this week with Joe Anderson working his senior cagers to exhaustion in preparation for Saturday night's home engagement against the Assumption Purple Raiders.

The Raiders, who are fresh from a weekend victory over the Redmen, are in sole possession of second place in the league standings with a 3-2 record. The McGill side, who now stand 2-3, can tie the Raiders if they win the game Saturday night. However, if they lose the game, they may find themselves in fourth position or lower. This game will likely determine whether or not the Redmen have had an improved year in basketball.

The main task of the Redmen is to polish up on their shooting. In their last few games they have taken ridiculous shots from far out and losing possession of the ball. It is felt by most fans that they should concentrate on working themselves into scoring position before trying for the basket.

The Redmen will have to pay special attention Saturday night to Howie Triano and George Joseph, the two Assumption cagers who combined for 38 points to whip the Redmen last week. Joseph is a speedy lay-up artist who can drive in from either side of the bucket. Triano is a smooth one-hand push shot artist who can swish the ball from far out as well as close in.

Linesmen Leads Intercollegiate Scoring Race

Official hockey statistics released by the McGill Daily Hockey Writers Association show that starry right-winger Ken Linesmen of the first place Varsity Blues leads the individual scoring parade with 10 points. The revised statistics place his linemate Don Cossar in second place with a total of 13 points.

Brian McCann of the Redmen holds down third spot with 12 points. Teammates Dickie Baltzan and Pete Constable are tied with Maurice Duhaime of the Carabins for fourth spot, each having 11 points.

Linesmen is also the leading goalgetter with 11 markers while Cossar leads in assists with nine. Toronto's Al Fleming is the top goaler with 15 goals in five games for a 3.00 average.

In the league standings, Toronto have 12 points with Laval just two points back. McGill and the U of M each have two points, but the Redmen have two games in hand on each of the other three teams.

INDIANS TIE KNIGHTS 57-57

McGill Indians and the Golden Knights fought to a 57-57 draw Tuesday at Westhill High School in the first game of a two game total points series. The final and decisive game of the semi-final playoffs between these two teams will be played at Sir Arthur Currie Gymnasium Tuesday February 14, at 7 pm. The winner of this series will face the victor of the series between Unity Boys, Club and the Georgians, to decide the Montreal Senior "B" Basketball championship.

The Indians defeated the Golden Knights twice in season play, but were caught by surprise by their spirited and hard driving opponents. After leading 35-27 at the half, the Inters gradually lost ground to the much improved Knights, and with one minute left in the contest, they fell behind by one point. Free shots decided the final outcome when, in the last 60 seconds, McGill sank two penalty shots, and the Knights, one.

Tim Leary paced the Indian squad offensively, potting 20 points. Frank Schieder and Morty Cohen once again turned in commendable performances counting twelve and seven points respectively. McLaren and Fradet played efficient defensive ball in addition to scoring six points each. Bucketman Lee Solomon was absent from the lineup.

The Indians lacked the offensive power which they showed throughout the season. Coach Ron Sharp and manager Ed O'Reilly will try to have them at full strength for Tuesday's encounter.

This Saturday at 7 pm, the Inters play an exhibition against Osgoode Law School at McGill.

FLOOR HOCKEY TITLE WON BY GCG'S SQUAD

The G.C.G. engineering team, behind 1-0 at the end of the second period, bounced back with three third period goals to defeat the Grunts 3-1 to win the intramural floor hockey championship last night.

The Grunts, also from Engineering, controlled the play for the first two periods. Seutor opened the scoring at the end of the second when he riddled a hard shot past the startled G.C.G. goaler. The period ended with the score 1-0 for the Grunts.

In the third period the G.C.C.'s (which stands for Guaranteed Christmas Grads) found the range on Grunt goaler Bill Caine. Early in the period John Phillips managed to drill one by Caine to notch the score at 1-1. It appeared as though the game might stretch into overtime as the end of the period neared. However, with only 3½ minutes remaining, Reimbold of G. C. G. blasted one by the Grunts goaltender to send his team ahead.

The Grunts fought back like Spartans, but with 3/4 of a minute left G.C.G. forward Fulberton tallied on a close in shot to insure the victory. The game ended with the score G.C.G. 3, Grunts 1.

The championship wound up a very successful season for the G. C. G. team. In season's play they had a 4-1 record. They advanced to the playoffs and whipped the Commerce Worms 4-2 and the Grads 3-1 to win their way to the finals. The Grunts followed a similar route, having a 4-1 record during the year and winning two playoff games. The stage was set for the grand finale and few of the spectators went home disappointed. It was a hard fought, close checking and rough game. Most observers agreed that the better team won.

ART & ARCHITECTURE IS PANEL TOPIC

"Art and Architecture" was the topic under discussion at a panel sponsored by the Architecture Undergraduate Society last night at the School of Architecture. Agnes Lefort, of the Lefort Galleries, Robert Ayre, art critic for the Montreal Star, and Robert Fleming, noted architect, took part, with Richard Pennington, University Librarian, acting as moderator.

Miss Lefort said that painting and sculpture have always accompanied architecture. The architect is limited both in budget and in the desire of his customer. The public, she said, is generally unaware of the name of the architects of most buildings. The architect's plan, generally, would benefit from artistic additions.

Mr. Ayre pointed out that "too often, architecture asks sculpture to come in at the last minute as a humanizer". Many people feel, he said, that artists and sculptors can help architects, "if they all keep their distance". Art should not be merely decorative, but should tie in with the architecture. To this end, painters and sculptors should work on building sites to synthesize their work with that of the architect. Mr. Ayre hoped that architects would organize more exhibitions in order to acquaint the public with goings-on in the field of architecture.

Mr. Fleming spoke of the difficulty facing the architect in that he has to be artist, professional, and architect all at once. He advocated the grouping together of various specialists in order to achieve maximum quality of the work. Buildings, he said, should inspire creativity in the people who occupy them. A building should be honest, humble, and enthusiastic.

MODEL PARLIAMENT . . .

period which followed the formal voting at the close of the meeting.

Among the speakers of the evening were four members of the L.P.P.; two members of the Liberal party and representatives of the Progressive Conservatives and the C.C.P. Leslie Morris, Toronto L.P.P. organizer, was the guest speaker. A highlight of the meeting occurred during the question period which followed the formal speeches. At this time all members in the House were given three minutes each in which to address the gathering. Several persons who identified themselves merely as "independents" or "independent-liberals" spoke on various aspects of the issue.

The resolution, which was finally defeated with the help of several members of the House summoned to the Commons for the voting, dealt with disarmament. It stated that Canada adopt the principle of gradual and proportionate reduction of . . . the arms budget, starting with a 25 per cent reduction in the budget of '56, as compared to '55." It went on to declare that "Canada immediately notify the UNO of its decision and that "Canada's UNO delegate move a motion to the effect that all nations immediately take similar steps to reverse the armaments trend". TORCHLIGHT PARADE TO OPEN CARNIVAL FESTIVITIES

A Torchlight Parade will begin this year's festivities on Mount Royal Night. The parade will lead to the specially-constructed Ice Castle, where the 1956 edition of the Winetr Carnival will be officially opened.

The opening will be followed by skating and skiing exhibitions, tugs-of-war, snowshoe races, and a mammoth fireworks display. The activities of Mount Royal Night will be culminated in the Ballroom Ball, which is to be held in the Chalet atop Mount Royal.

The Chalet dance this year derives its name from the hundreds of multi-coloured balloons which will be suspended from the six main centrepieces. All are to be released at "ZeroHour". The Mount Royal Night Committee has announced that tickets for the Grand Carnival Ball on the 18, will be placed in some of the balloons.

Chalet decorations are being sponsored by Pepsi-Cola, Steinbergs, and Simpsons. Over twenty-five students will start working on the Chalet this Monday in the hope that the resulting decorations will surpass anything previously attempted.

Russ Meredith and a six-piece band will supply the music in the Chalet; the entire bandstand is to be covered in silver glitter paper.

All of Mount Royal Night including the Ballroom Ball is free to everyone. This is the Carnival event in which the people of Montreal are particularly invited to participate, along with McGill students. Last year's crowd was estimated at over 10,000.

6 STUDENTS INCLUDED ON UN PANEL MEET

Six McGill students have tentatively been included on a 10-man panel that will discuss The World We Want, at a meeting of the Montreal branch, United Nations Association, in co-operation with the McGill UN club. The meeting will be held Sunday Feb. 26 at St. James United Church, at 8:15 pm.

Local officials have asked any foreign students who would be willing to appear in national dress representing their country to contact Zafar Khan or Jim Lotz, by leaving a message with George at the Tuck Shop. They may also phone Eugene Morosan at RA. 7-3558.

The McGill students who will appear on the panel are George Sorger, Latin America, Jim Lotz, Western Europe, Bernard Chidzero, Africa, Hislami Nashabi, Middle East, Miss Chandana Roy, India, and Zafar Khan, Pakistan.

All 10 students will hail from countries within the continental sections.

Other panelists will be students at the University of Montreal and Sir George Williams College. They will be chosen shortly.

Each will attempt to define the social desires of the cultural areas they represent. Professor Maxwell Cohen, of the McGill Faculty of Law, will be the moderator.

THE STORE WHERE QUALITY COUNTS

Remember the story of the little Dutch boy who kept his finger in a leak in the dyke? Thus he saved his land from a disastrous flood.

We, too, are RELIABLE...

★ "A service that can be depended upon." That is the way this Prescription Pharmacy is often characterized by men in the medical profession, who realize fully the importance of careful and conscientious compounding.

Many leading physicians now direct their patients to bring prescriptions to us. Since our service costs no more, why not call on us with your next prescription? Your patronage is appreciated.
